

Peru

• Applicants for Student Visas shall coordinate the issuing of their visas with the institution where they will study and/or carry out their internship. This institution will have to carry out the visa application process in Peru before DIGEMIN (Dirección General de Migraciones y Naturalización).

Peru student visa is required for citizens of Ireland.

Visa Application Procedure

International students must apply for the visa at their nearest Peruvian embassy/consulate. You can apply for a tourist visa and when you enter the country, change your immigration to student. Students must fill a visa application form and submit it along with the required documents to the Peruvian embassy:

- Two passport-size photos
- A valid copy of passport
- Proof of financial solvency
- Proof of enrolment at an educational institution/university in Peru
- Copy of tuition fee payment receipt
- Proof of accommodation in Peru

Official/Exchange Visa

International pupils who are coming to Peru on the basis of an Agreement must apply for exchange/official visa. This visa is processed through the University Mobility Programme Coordination department in the university where you have to study. No cost is involved for this visa. To get this visa, students are required to fill in a visa application form and send it along with their airline ticket to the department.

The General Office sends the corresponding documents to the National Assembly of Rectors which gets in touch with the Ministry of External Relations and assesses the stay. Then the Ministry notifies the embassy/consulate of Peru in the international student's place of residence to issue the visa. The Coordination department informs the date of visa collection to the student. This visa is given for 90 days.

Contact the Peruvian embassy/consulate to know more about the visa requirements and procedure.
