

NATIONAL PPI FESTIVAL

Public & patient involvement: connecting communities

The Future: Research Coproduction in Healthcare Colloquium

AN EVENT FOR: PPI contributors. Community partners. Researchers

This feels like a critical time for research coproduction. We know enough about how researchers and knowledge users work together to rethink old assumptions, craft new techniques and plan for more supportive research infrastructure. Join some of the authors of “Research Coproduction in Healthcare” for an online discussion on what the future holds for the field. The authors will explore the implications of a principles-based approach to research coproduction; consider how meaningful partnerships are achieved with different types of knowledge users; and forecast the changes required to build a systems architecture that nourishes collaboration.

Date / Time: Tuesday, 20th October 2022 – 14.45 pm

Location: Interactive Webinar

Register here: Get an Eventbrite ticket

